

To my valentine, Lisa Perera

320 days... 320 days since we started talking. Time sure did fly, everything is just so surreal to me that in this time period you've become one of my favourite people ever. Yes when we started we had our doubts and fears whether this would turn out to mean something. But from the first conversation i had with you back on 1st of April 2024, i knew you had something special, something that i've always been searching for in people, that something that i cannot describe with words, you were just different from any other girl i've seen until then. Not even in 1000 years I would do long distance, but knowing I'm doing long distance with you, gave me a sense of comfort and confidence that if we stick for a bit longer, maybe we can make everything work. I'm really grateful for everything you do for me and all the efforts you put in. I want to say that I love you so much darling. It was truly a roller coaster of emotions... We went through many ups and downs but we held strong and strengthened our bond at each step of the way. Seriously thank you for everything and I'M SOOOO HAPPY YOU ARE MY VALENTINEEEEE!!!

Yours lovely, Pietro Nimesha
